Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 4

You are planning to conduct the team-building portion of your new project management training curriculum out-of-doors in the local park. You are limited to scheduling the course at certain times of the year, and the best time for the course to begin is mid-July. One of the more common date constraints to use as you develop the project schedule is _____

- A. "Fixed late start"
- B. "Start no earlier than"
- C. "Finish no earlier than"
- D. "Fixed early finish"

Answer: B

Explanation:

Imposed dates on schedule activity starts or finishes can be used to restrict the start or finish to occur either no earlier than a specified date or no later than a specified date.

Although all four date constraints typically are available in project management software, "start no earlier than" and "finish no later than" constraints are more commonly used.
